Home Bistro Donates Meals to Family in Need

November 27, 2007

For Immediate Release

Plattsburgh, NY -- Home Bistro was featured today on the Rachael Ray Show for its donation of a year's worth of meals to a family with three adoptive children, one with health concerns. "We were especially honored when the producers of The Rachael Ray show called on us for assistance," said Steve Jones of Home Bistro. "They recently heard about Joey, a young man who had the commitment and audacity to adopt his sister's three young children out of foster care and become their father. While that's a large enough challenge for any 24 year old, it's somewhat harder to imagine when you consider one of Joey's new kids has Spina Bifida, a malformation of the spine, afflicting some unlucky children. It's the most common permanently disabling birth defect in the United States.

"It took all of four minutes to figure out that providing meals for Joey and his new family, every day for a year, was exactly the right thing to do. We were proud to join American Express, Sears and Toys R Us in figuring out how to help give Joey a leg up on the challenges he faces. Not that he isn't entirely capable on his own. But why not make it a little easier for him?

"If you'd like to hear more of Joey's story, check him out on The Rachael Ray Show. If you'd like to learn more about Spina Bifida, or help those afflicted with it, check out the Spina Bifida Association website."

Home Bistro also supports Journeys of the Heart Adoption Agency and Seton Academy.
